The best grocery deliveries across the UK

Since the outbreak of COVID-19, we've been altering our business so that we're continuing to provide you with information that is important and relevant to you. In recent days, we've seen a huge spike in requests regarding companies that are still delivering fresh produce, so we've compiled a list of suppliers that can still deliver to your door. Please note that these providers' delivery statuses are changing regularly and usually work with the catering industry, so there are a few quirks to watch out for. Should you require further information, please do not hesitate to contact a lifestyle manager.

Please note: this information is correct at the time of publishing (Monday 6 April).
